Dear Parents,

Three Moms and a Test delivers an ACT test preparation course that prepares students for the ACT test as well as for many of the challenges students will soon find in college: organization, independence, and self-discipline.

This course is regularly offered in Omaha before each ACT test. We are excited to bring this course to Shenandoah before the April 8 test. (The registration deadline for the April ACT is March 3 at www.actstudent.org)

Three mothers, all with high school classroom experience, bring their fields of expertise together to make what they see as a very competitive program they would want their own kids to take. The program is based on the idea that ACT test preparation should not be exclusive but instead be affordable and available to every young man and woman looking to take the exam. The Test Anxiety instructor--the Bonus Mom as they like to call her--adds the final element to what they believe is a complete program that will best prepare students for the ACT test.

Students who register will receive an ACT practice book with six tests and a packet with strategies, a calendar, directives, and a score card. There will be three, three-hour sessions to prepare students in Shenandoah's May Center:

March 18, 2017	12-3pm	Intro/General Strategies/English
March 25, 2017	12-3pm	Math
April 1, 2017	12-3pm	Science Reasoning/Test Anxiety

The cost of this 9-hour course is $225, or $100 for a single day. Please keep in mind that a higher ACT score could mean potentially thousands of dollars in scholarships.

To learn more about this opportunity and register, you may visit: www.go3mt.com and click on the "Register" tab. To register for the "Iowa Consortium," the private code is Iowa. The deadline to register is March 10.

Feel free to contact me if you have questions.
